

Raman–Charpak Fellowship 2013 Call for Applications

Preamble

The Indo-French Science and Technology Cooperation is more than three decades old. The Cooperation is guided by the Inter Governmental Agreement for Cooperation in the fields of Science and Technology which was signed on 18 July 1978. Department of Science and Technology, Government of India and Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of France are the nodal organizations implementing this agreement.

Recognizing the importance of the mobility of students between two countries as a pillar of S&T Cooperation Governments of India and France have launched the 'Raman–Charpak Fellowship' during the recent state visit of the Honourable President of France to India in February 2013.

The Fellowship

The fellowship programme is in honour of Sir C. V. Raman and Prof. Georges Charpak, the two great Nobel laureates in Physics from India and France whose scientific contribution have greatly influenced the advancement of science. The programme aims at further strengthening Indo-French scientific cooperation through close collaboration between Indian and French laboratories, by supporting the mobility of highly qualified Ph.D. students registered in an Indian or French research institute/university, to offer them an excellent opportunity to carry out a part of their doctoral research work in France/India.

On behalf of the Department of Science and Technology (DST), Government of India and the French Embassy in India, Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Government of France, Indo French Centre for Promotion of Advanced Research (IFCPAR/CEFIPRA) invites applications from the Ph.D. students of India and France in different areas of Science & Technology (for details please visit www.cefipra.org) for awarding the Raman–Charpak Fellowship 2013.
