

CSIR Invites Young & Dynamic Leaders to Manage its R&D

CSIR seeks response from young and dynamic scientists who are willing to create new paradigm in the management of R&D as a part of its:

Human Resource Development Group (HRDG)

International S&T Affairs Directorate (ISTAD)

Innovation Protection Unit (IPU)

Planning and Performance Division (PPD)

Unit for Science Dissemination (USD)

Established in 1942, the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR) is an autonomous Society whose President is the Prime Minister of India. An ensemble of 37 state-of-the-art National Laboratories/Institutes, 3 innovation complexes, 6 Units and 38 Centres, CSIR today is amongst the foremost and largest publicly funded scientific and industrial research organizations in the world. CSIR delivers cutting-edge science on one hand and state-of-the-art technology on the other. The expertise and experience of CSIR is embodied in its more than 4600 scientists and 8000 technical support personnel apart from about 8000 JRF/SRF/RA and project staff. Over the years, CSIR has played a pivotal role in the advancement of science and technology, covering diverse domains. CSIR has spawned many organizations, many disciplines and most importantly has served as a nursery and training ground for most of India's distinguished scientists and technologists. CSIR has ushered India into the knowledge economy, creating and nurturing talent in science, innovation and technology. CSIR has endeavored to be at the forefront of R&D in diverse areas. In doing so, it has made concerted efforts to put in place innovative strategies and mechanisms for management of R&D. CSIR HQs located in New Delhi comprises diverse S&T, administrative and finance divisions which help in functioning of its constituent laboratories & innovation complexes, units and centres as per the mission in place.
