Applications invited for admission to the In-Country Residential Ph.D. programme offered by TERI and Deakin University, Australia. Selected students will be provided with fellowship and based at the most advanced and impressive facility at the TERI Deakin Nano-Biotech Centre, Gurgaon, Haryana.

Research themes:
- Nano materials for agriculture
- Bio-remediation
- Nanotechnology interventions in food safety
- Toxicity assessment of nano-materials

Eligibility criteria:
- Master’s in Physics/Chemistry (Inorganic, Organic and Physical Chemistry)/Bioprocess Engineering/Chemical Engineering/Biological Sciences/Biochemistry/Microbiology/Agronomy and Soil Science
- Mandatory valid IELTS scores required (Band 6.5/6)
- CSIR-UGC/NET qualified applicants are preferred

Important dates:
- Last date of application: 25 October 2018
- Written exam: 30 November 2018
- Interview: 10–11 December 2018
- Month of joining: December 2018

How to apply:
- Candidates must send completed application forms (available at http://tdnbc.teriin.org/) along with updated CV to Ms Sonaki Roy at studentcoordinatordtnbc@teri.res.in.
- Please mention ‘Application for TERI Deakin Ph.D. Program’ in the subject line.

Important note:
- Selected students are expected to sign a bond for the entire duration of the Ph.D. programme.
- For candidates shortlisted for interview, it is mandatory to provide valid IELTS scores by 1 December 2018 failing to which they may not be eligible for interviews.

For further information and applications contact Ms Sonaki Roy at +91-124-7103838 (Ext 569) (Weekdays 9.30 am to 5.00 pm) or visit http://www.tdnbc.teriin.org

‘Deakin University CRICOS Provider Code 00113B’