New Delhi, India

Position: Junior Research Fellow (JRF) – One at New Delhi

Please send your application with cover letter, at least three references and CV to recruitmentsarp@cgiar.org.

The World Agroforestry (CIFOR-ICRAF, www.worldagroforestry.org) is a non-profit global research organization that generates science-based knowledge about the diverse and important roles that trees play in agricultural landscapes and rural livelihoods. ICRAF is a member of the Consortium of 15 independent agricultural research centres of CGIAR, head quartered at Nairobi Kenya.

Job description: The incumbent based in CIFOR-ICRAF's New Delhi, India office will closely work with a supervisor from Nairobi to collect, collate and document global/regional tree breeding resources to be used to build a website to link different tree breeders across the globe and CIFOR-ICRAF operated regions. The incumbent will also study, map, and link patterns of global agricultural research funding.

Essential qualification: Master's (M.Sc.) in genetics and/or plant breeding and/or forest tree breeding and/or plant genetic resources or equivalent.

Desirable: Technical knowledge and understanding of genetics and plant breeding, traditional and modern crop/tree breeding tools and methods, genebank and germplasm management, data entry and recording, good analytical capacity, etc.

This is 1-year temporary position on contract, mostly working on-line with occasional travel.

Remuneration: The fellowship will be paid as per the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) norms. The current fellowship for JRF is Rs 31,000 + HRA Rs 7,440 (24% in case of Delhi)/per month. Applicable taxes will be deducted as per Government of India norms, if any.

Last date of receiving applications: 31 May 2021.

CIFOR-ICRAF is an equal opportunity employer. It fosters a multicultural work environment that values gender equality, teamwork, and respect for diversity. ICRAF has its discretion for qualification and disqualification criteria as per suitability and availability of candidates.
