INDIAN INSTITUTE OF TROPICAL METEOROLOGY, PUNE 411 008

(An Autonomous Institute under Ministry of Earth Sciences, Government of India)

Advertisement No. PER/CCCR/001/2009

Opportunity for Talented Climate Scientists

The Indian Institute of Tropical Meteorology (IITM), Pune, an autonomous institute under the Ministry of Earth Sciences, Govt of India functioning as a leading research centre in applied and fundamental aspects of ocean–land–atmosphere interaction in tropics is looking for reputed scientists for 20 senior scientific positions at different levels for its newly launched Centre for Climate Change Research (CCCR) at Pune. The CCCR is a grant-in-aid program at IITM as part of a larger National Program on Global and Regional Climate Change launched by the Ministry of Earth Sciences, Govt of India. The detailed project document of the Centre could be seen at the link 'CCCR' of the Institute's website: <http://www.tropmet.res.in>. CCCR with its state-of-the-art physical and computing environment and a vibrant Ph.D. program at the institute provides excellent opportunity for cutting edge research in climate science.

The successful candidates will have opportunity to work in an excellent research atmosphere with multidisciplinary team of scientists working on different areas of climate change and contribute substantively in the growth of the centre. The Scientific Positions are to advance research in Climate Change in the areas of (i) Physical Processes, (ii) Climate Modelling, (iii) Climate Scenarios Development, (iv) Impact Assessment, and (v) Observed Changes and Data Products.

For details of the posts please visit the Institute's website <http://www.tropmet.res.in>. Aspiring candidates please submit their applications, separately for each particular Scientific Position, in the proforma with detailed CV, a list of publications and other relevant papers to the Administrative Officer of this institute by 15 October 2009.
